Arts Midwest is seeking applications for the David J. Fraher Future Leaders' Fund, which awards a conference scholarship each year to an emerging leader in the performing arts. This year, because our Conference is taking place in Columbus, arts administrators from Ohio are eligible to apply. The scholarship is awarded only to individuals with five or fewer years' experience in the field (education, work, or combined) and must be either enrolled in an arts administration program at an Ohio college/university (can be undergraduate or graduate) or employed at an arts organization in Ohio.

Would you be willing to recommend this opportunity to an individual in your network or share in your newsletter, via social media, or post on your website? Full detail about the scholarship and how to apply can be found here. Applications are due June 20, 2017.
